Students Writes...

I've always been told, "sometimes you need the bad days to appreciate the good ones" and I've always thought it's a very cliché and inconceivable impression to come to terms with in exchange for the promise of hope. Now that I reflect upon the exponential growth of my mind through the circumstances I've been through, I've come to understand it

March 2020, a tiny virus caused the entire world to go through a series of unfortunate and uncertain events. This storm hit everyone with the same intensity, if not worse. As a neet aspirant, this was the last thing I expected. Every little problem I faced seemed insignificant considering the lives of people who lost loved ones, who went through financial instability and those who hardly came out of the pandemic safely.

In a world full of chaos, how much can a teenager do? Yes it brought everyone's morale down. But, there was one thing that kept me going. No matter how difficult things got, the frontline workers of the pandemic pulled through. I saw how every doctor worked selflessly towards helping the sick without thinking twice about their own safety. The nurses and hospital staff worked round the clock just to make sure every person is tended to. Even the interns and medical students who came forward to lend their helping hand in any way possible.

1 year three months later, here I am, in Shri B.M. Patil medical college as a first year medical student. Of course, we're only human and we're bound to fear the high risk associated with caring for patients during a pandemic and how daunting it can be for future medical aspirants. But if I'm being honest, watching our doctors fearlessly put their lives at stake caring for masses of people has been a wake up call of courage. Being where I am right now in my life, knowing that as I go through the mbbs phases it'll just get more difficult but yet here I am, with my goals as clear as day.

A new chapter of my life has begun at BLDE. As I get closer to my dreams, I remind myself every single day that I owe it to my parents, my family, my teachers, and most importantly to myself, to make the best out of all the opportunities presented to me by this institution. I know things will get bad, they always do but I've learnt to be more optimistic. I hope to learn as much as I can from the professor's and my colleagues at BLDE and from the entire medical community itself. As a fresher, I salute all the frontline workers for all their efforts and hope to someday inspire and give hope to a teenager the way they inspired me.

This private hospital in Vijayapura offers treatment at half the cost

Sanjamesh.Menashakal
@timesgroup.com

Vijayapura: At a time when private hospital managements are being hauled up for fleeing Covid-19 patients, BM Patil Medical College Hospital and Research Centre, the constituent college of B. Jayar Lingayat District Educational Association (Deemed to be University) in Vijayapura, is offering treatment at half the cost fixed by the government.

MB Patil, chairman, BLDE Association, said: “Our hospital [a private facility] has been a charity-based and service-oriented institution and has been providing world-class treatment at very economic prices. This is not the first time that we are offering a 50% concession. We have been responding to grievances of common people during floods, earthquakes, drought and other natural calamities.”

Dr MS Biradar, vice-chancellor, BLDEDU, the decision was taken after seeing many middle-class and poor patients being deprived of quality treatment due to high costs.

“Many are hesitating to get admitted and people are dying,” Biradar said. “That’s why we have reduced charges. Rent in our general ward for Covid is now Rs 5,000 instead of Rs 10,000 and Rs 10,000 instead of Rs 15,000 for oxygen beds. Charges of ICU and ventilator wards have been slashed to Rs 15,000 instead of Rs 25,000. All procedures and treatment will be conducted as per government guidelines.”

Dr Ravikiran Metri, a resident of Jath, Sangli district, said his uncle’s saturation level had dropped to 70 last month. “We took him to BLDE in the middle of the night and they admitted him immediately, allowing us to do the documentation the next day. Considering his economic condition, they waived 50% of the bill. People in Sangli, Solapur and other districts of Maharashtra always prefer BLDE.”

Vijaykumar Halkude, a retired PWD engineer in Vijayapura, who recovered from Covid, said BLDE has always been a front-runner in providing treatment. “They have separate wards and staff for Covid and non-Covid patients,” Halkude said. “Specialists are kind and treat us with dignity. They also provide quality food.”
